Sylvia Pickens, nee Evans, yesterday filed suit in the district court against her husband. Edward Pickens, for a decree of divorce. The parties were rairied in this city on September 17, 1827, and for cause of action it is alleged that on April 20, 1898. defendant deserted his wife, and ever since has wilflully falled to provide for her support.

Deputy Clerk Eldredge yesterday heard the testimony in the divorce case of Huel Aftred vs. Maud Allred, and at the conclusion drew up a report to the court recommending the granting of the decree as prayed for. A. G. Sutherland appeared as attorney for plaintiff and the defendant was in default. The testimony showed that the couple were married at Manti in 1898, and that during last year Mrs. Allred deserted her husband to lead a life of shane in this city and at Mercur, returning to his home later, however, at his urgent request, but deserting him again. The woman is now, it was declared by the plaintiff, an inmate of a house of ill repute on Commercial street.

Blamed City Attorney.

Some one had to be blamed for getting the council into a muss that is fast assuming the proportions of a scandal, and Deputy Mayor Eichnor declared that City Attorney Stephens had been derelict in drawing a form of contract and specifications such as Chairman Dooly of the board of public works called for, knowing full well what the developments would lead to. Amplifying his remarks, the deputy mayor said that the city attorney's duty was to draw such papers as would professionally absolve him from censure, but this he had not done.

When a quorym was finally mustered, Thomas counted noses and noted that with even the slightest opposition there would not be sufficient votes to agree to a ratification of the new forum, and he proposed that the council adjourn.

Robertson noted that neither the city attorney, the engineer nor the chair man of the board of works was present, and the absence of so many countilmen, who, it appeared to him, had not the courage to face the issue, also as caused him to express regret. In his motion to adjourn till this evening at 7:30, Robertson included the direction that all of the absent councilmen and the three officials whose presence was wanted last night be invited and urged to attend tonight.

Charges of Dishonesty.

wanted all parties to attend the next meeting.

Buckje was of the opinion that the engineer could not prepare his objections to the new form by this evening, and he favored an adjournment until Tuesday evening. His amendment to this effect was lost, besides himself only Cottrell, Thomas and Whittemore voting for it, with Davis, Fernstrom, Howe, Robertson and Tuddenham voting in the negative.

Robertson's motion to adjourn until this evening was then carried, after Whittemore had made the point that a special meeting of the council could not be adjourned.

Formant, who desired that his name be withheld, the county has a tax-right to the grade and only the county has the right to keep the Short Line company agrees to pay-up the several thousand dollars deliquent taxes. The county wants a railroad through there, having waited the years or more for it, and it will take no side in the dispute. The San Pedro company, it is claimed, proceeded on the theory that the land office decision was conclusive, whereas, in reality, the county owns the ground. The only hope of the Clark people is in securing a decision that the county's tax-right is invalid. At least, that is the claim made by the Nevada man.

Nevada man.

"The Short Line has put its tracks down first," said he, "and the county is not going to stand them off. The people want the road too well for that. The disposition is to give the railroad company the title to the ground; to deed it to them as soon as they pay the taxes due on the land, which amounts to several thousand dollars. There is reason to believe that the Nevada man. There is reason to believe that the Short Line will do this, for, in my opinion, its safety lies in so doing. Clark's only chance, now that the Clark's only chance, now that the Short Line's tracks are laid, is to prov the county's title invalid, and it is my opinion that some trouble will be experienced in doing that."
